Having an Organization in My Pathomation, gives us the possibility to create a collaborative space. To create such space we can invite users into the Organization. The users that we want to invite will receive an email, inviting them to login into my Pathomation to join the Organization, in case they are alredy pathomation users. In case they are not yet my pathomation users, they will be invited to create a new Pathomation free account so that they may join your Organization.
