Course Mode

Course Mode in PathoTrainer is designed to give you full control over how you create and deliver self-learning modules. It lets you structure content, add interactive material, and assess learners' understanding — all in a way that matches your teaching style. With Course Mode, you can transform case collections, guidelines, and quizzes into a cohesive, engaging, and fully personalized learning experience.

Section Groups

Section Groups allow you to organize your module into clear, logical blocks. You can create sections for introductory content, case collections, supporting materials, or final review, providing learners with a structured path through the course.

Additional Material

Additional Material helps you enrich your self-learning modules with files such as presentations, guideline papers, or instructional videos. Linking these materials to specific topics gives learners a deeper understanding and reinforces key concepts.

Quizzes

Quizzes enable you to assess learners' knowledge and track their progress. You can create questions in various formats — multiple choice, multiple answers, essay, numerical input, or even no-answer questions — and add them to the appropriate sections in Course Mode.

Certificates

Course Mode also allows you to issue certificates when participants successfully complete the course. By scoring case collections and quizzes, learners who meet the certification requirements can receive official recognition of their achievement. This encourages engagement and helps trainees track their progress in mastering key topics such as biomarker scoring and diagnosis.
