License expiration

When your license has expired or has become invalid for any other reason, you can still keep using the software. You receive a notification of this after logging in:

In addition to this administrative message, the tiles served through the tile server show as "faded". Each tile is also provided with a notification warning, making it rather obvious and that you should contact Pathomation to resolve whatever issue is the source of the problem.

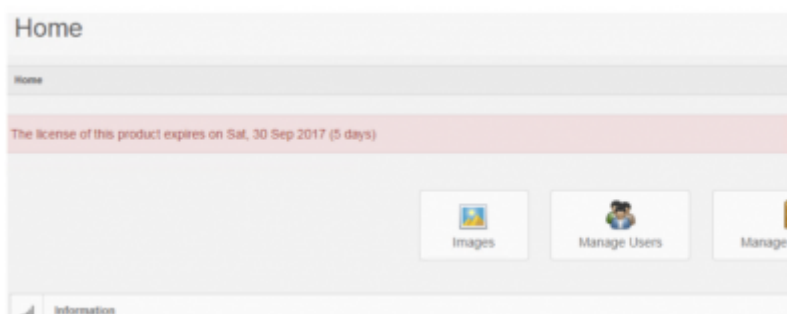

First time users

When starting the application for the first time a license will be required.
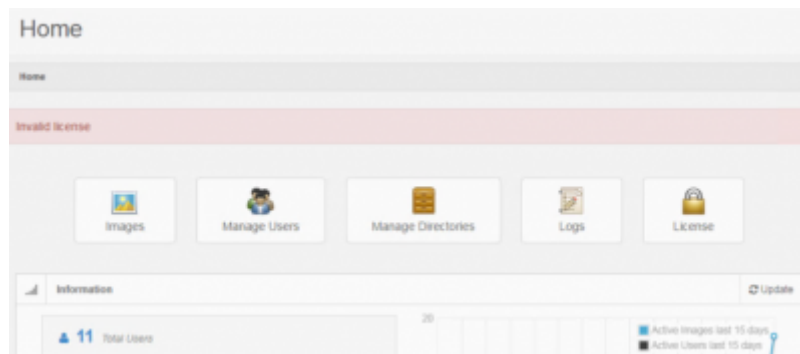

Close to expiration

When license expiration is less than a month away, a warning message appears:

Expired licenses

When the license is expired, you are notified of this right after logging in:
