Advanced customization

Depending on your license terms and specific installation, you may see more or less additional columns behind the login. E.g. you may have a restrictive version that doesn't allow you the granularity to determine which users may perform annotations and which ones may not. In that case the column 'Can Annotate' will not be visible for your particular installation. You should contact us if you feel absence of certain features is somehow an error, or if you think anything else is missing (that you were actually expecting to see).
